WHERE CATTLE RANGE

MISS BESSIE M. FIELD TELLS OF COWBOY LIFE AMONG NEW MEXICO HILLS

"When I left Glendale the summer sun was making its presence felt on the hot streets. I was somewhat languid and weary and welcomed with great relief an invitation to visit an old friend of mine, who had married a well-to-do rancher, whose home lay far off among the high hills of New Mexico. It was a great and grateful change from the low level of Glendale to an elevation of more than 6000 feet.

"I took the train to Albuquerque and thence went on a branch line to Socorro, whence another haphazard line took me to Magdalena, which is 26 miles from the J. W. Medley ranch, whither I was going. My friends there who knew the vagaries of the local train were greatly worried about how I should get along; but as I knew nothing of any trouble my ignorance was bliss and I was able to enjoy the changing scenery and the gradual ascent.

"Fortunately for myself I had arrived at Socorro just in time to catch the somewhat irregular train which was waiting for me, or so I thought. My friends were waiting for me at Magdalena with their auto and we were soon whirling away on the upward path. The country was beautiful and the air marvelously bracing and stimulating. I began to feel better right away. At least I thought so, which is half the battle.

"On our way from Magdalena we saw another town, Kelly, which is 600 feet higher than Magdalena. It is a large mining town, on Magdalena mountain. Another branch railway runs to Kelly, not twice a week as does the Magdalena line, but apparently at will. The whole of this region is highly mineralized. Everywhere prospecting is going on and many expensive holes have been put down, adits driven, shafts sunk, drifts put in, winzes sunk and every effort made to get the elusive gold out of the earth.

"Quite a good deal of gold has been taken out already and even the idea that gold is there brings money into the place and provides work. On the other side of the hill, too, there is a fine mineral country. Ground has been broken there by many mining prospectors and the country promises to be prosperous at no distant future.

"My friends are cattle men. Mr. Medley has been in that district for 35 years. He has three sons and between them they manage to control a very large amount of ground. Their cattle range begins at about Magdalena, thence it runs in a line as the crow flies 16 miles to the ranch house; from the house to the other side of the ranch is 25 miles.

"Mr. Medley has a very large number of cattle. How many I don't know and I don't suppose he knows until he has them all rounded up. The ranch is on the Datil Forest Reservation and is leased in part from the government and from the Santa Fe Railway company, which, it will be remembered, received as a free grant, every alternate section along the line of the railway.

"Naturally the cattlemen get as close to the springs as they can. It is an open range and sometimes Mexicans who have large numbers of burros bring them down to the springs for water. When the burros find cattle at the water they have no hesitation in driving them away with their heels. In this way many cattle are injured. The government authorities permanently stopped this trouble by charging the burro owners 75 cents a head for water for their burros. Then they found it convenient to go elsewhere.

"There was one rodeo while I was there; but it was not the great rodeo. In September and October they gather the old cows with calves and sell them. In spring they have the yearling rodeo. Between seasons they round up the strays. My host had as many as 250 calves on his ranch. They and 35 old cows fetched something like $3300.

"The weather was cold but fine. The rains are over in summer and the snow is on the ground with the sun shining brightly all day. At night and in the morning it was cool. I enjoyed every moment I was there and yet I enjoy Glendale and am glad to get back to it greatly improved in health."

The total cost of the minor items of equipment needed on a farm is much greater than the average person is wont to think. It has been found by inventories taken on a number of farms that the tools and implements actually needed on the average farm, from a wheelbarrow down to a husking peg, cost nearly $200.

SOWING THE SEED

FRANK MAREK SAYS RECENT RAINS HAVE PREPARED FOR PLANTING

"Nothing could have been more seasonable and beneficial than the reecnt rains," said Frank Marek, the City of Glendale's arboricultural expert, to a representative of the Glendale News. "The precipitation was gentle and continuous and penetrated the ground to a depth of eight inches. None of the rain was lost. It has put the soil in fine shape for planting.

"Now is the time to plant. The soil is in excellent condition. Crops put in now will have a chance to germinate and be in fine shape by harvest time. Planting in January is too late. The crops now planted will occupy the soil and keep down the weeds. Quite a good deal of the vacant ground in and around Glendale has been allowed to remain in weeds until they have seeded several times over and got such a hold on the ground that it is difficult to eradicate them. The putting in of crops keeps these weeds down, besides being profitable.

"I am sowing barley and rye just now. Both crops will be excellent cattle feed and will come in very handy as hay is mounting rapidly in price. This rise in price is attributed by some to the war. It is true that vast quantities of hay and feed of all kinds have been shipped to Europe during the past year. The demands of the armies are enormous and that would necessarily cause a rise in home prices. It also seems to be true that many farmers, needing money, sold their crops of hay to the dealers, who have stored immense quantities and are holding them for the advance.

"Whatever the cause the fact makes sowing of grains of all kinds for feed very necessary. This ground was sowed to kaffir corn last spring and brought forth abundant crops. The roots left in the ground are sprouting again and we leave them there and sow between the furrows; but I don't think the kaffir corn's second growth will amount to much."

FOR GARDEN LOVERS

INTERESTING BOOKS ON GARDENING AT GARDEN SOCIETY HEADQUARTERS

Several interesting books have been placed at headquarters for the use of the garden-loving public. "Pictorial Practical Flower Gardening," by Walter Wright and Edward Castle, deals with laying out gardens, making lawns, beds and borders, rockwork, arches, etc. It also gives selections of and cultural hints on all the best hardy plants. "Gardening in California," by W. S. Lyon, is a Los Angeles production. The object of this little volume is to meet and answer the daily recurring inquiries: What shall I do with my roses? Why don't my violets bloom? How treat the chrysanthemums when through flowering?

Donations of other gardening or horticultural books will be received with many thanks by the President, at Headquarters, 1111 W. Broadway. Many volumes, having served the purpose for which they were purchased, lie untouched on the library shelves. To pass them on where they will do further good would be aiding public education.

Many names have been added to the membership list this past week. Twenty-five cents for annual dues is such a small amount that everybody in Glendale can afford to join. The free meeting to be held at the High School on Thursday evening, Nov. 18, at 8 o'clock, and the pictures to be shown there by Mr. Maxwell of Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, are worth the membership fee alone.

Strangers to Glendale, dropping into Headquarters, are greatly interested in the work of the Society. They see that Glendale people are up and doing, and it creates in them a desire to live amongst such congenial and home-loving surroundings.

Dozens of annual larkspurs have been given to all joining the Garden Society this week. Mrs. Woods' stock of these pretty plants, grown in her own garden, is not yet exhausted; she still has about 300 young plants. Join the society and take advantage of the opportunity to receive free a dozen plants.

AT THE I. O. O. F. LODGE

After a whole season of activity the Oddfellows have attained one of their ideals—the purchasing of a new set of regalia. It has cost the lodge some time and trouble to bring about this much desired consummation; but the result is worth the trouble. Each meeting night a five-cent march was held for the good of the order and the money thus obtained is to be spent on the regalia.

Mrs. Hoffmayer, 580 Third street, is making the regalia, which will be beautifully embroidered and in good taste. With their new adornment the officials of the lodge are certain to find new spirit and the order will get the benefit.

District Deputy Walker was present at the meeting of the lodge Thursday evening. There was a good attendance of members who listened to an excellent address from Brother Walker on the contest for the Banner. The prize will be awarded to the team that gives the best exhibition of military drill. Mr. Walker finished by giving the secret work.

The Oddfellows of Glendale are going to the district meeting Nov. 25. This gathering will be held in the hall at 220½ So. Main street, Los Angeles. The lodge will go in a body. A good program has been provided and a pleasant evening will be spent.

It is expected that a large number of the local members will be present on this occasion. Every Oddfellow is urged to come and bring a friend. At the close of the proceedings a stag party will be held with refreshments. Don't miss this!

UNANIMOUS ELECTION

Probably for the first time in the history of this district an unanimous election was held, when the people who inhabit the "annexation strip" where the pumping plant is situated voted by 6 to 0, Tuesday, to join Glendale. Every registered voter in the district went to the polls. This is also a record. It is now up to Glendale to decide if it wants to annex this strip. The matter will probably be put up to the people by the Board of Trustees before long.

PULLING TOGETHER

Every man has his hobby and the hobby of The Evening News is the "pulling together spirit" in a community. It is evident from reviewing the past that great things may be accomplished when the people of a community work in harmony. Men working single handed for the building up of a community can accomplish but little, but when working with a thousand men then come the results of united efforts.

DIED IN SEATTLE

Mrs. Mary A. Brown, mother of Mr. R. M. Brown, 116 N. Kenwood, died suddenly in Seattle this week. Mrs. Brown had been living in Seattle with her daughter, Mrs. D. M. Hollister. She had been apparently in her ordinary health up to the time of her death. She was 66 years of age. Mrs. Hollister is accompanying the remains to Glendale. Mr. R. M. Brown has gone to San Francisco to meet her. Funeral services will be held in the parlors of the Pulliam Undertaking Company, Saturday, at 2 p. m. The Rev. E. H. Willisford will officiate. Mrs. Brown's former home was in Iowa, where she was a member of the Congregational Church. All friends are invited.

Mrs. Brown visited at the home of her son in Glendale last summer and previous to that time had made her home here for a few months. Her many Glendale friends will regret very much to hear of her sudden death.

SNUDDENS MADE WELCOME

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds extended their hospitality to the clergy and superintendents of Sunday Schools of Glendale's churches, and their wives, when they opened their home at 421 Cedar street on Thursday evening to introduce Rev. and Mrs. B. D. Snudden, recent arrivals in Glendale. Rev. Snudden has come to take charge of the First Methodist Episcopal Church and this gracious couple will be an asset to the church and social life of our city. The guests present enjoyed a delightful musical program by Miss Martha Porter, violinist, and sister, Miss Elizabeth Porter, at the piano. Games caused much merriment, being followed by a light repast. Cut roses and chrysanthemums were artistically used throughout the house.

VISIT OF GRAND OFFICERS

Unity Chapter No. 116, Royal Arch Masons, will extend a most hearty welcome tonight to the grand officers who will pay an official visit to the chapter. The grand officials who will be present are, Most Excellent Companion William Henry Gaynor, Grand High Priest, Right Excellent Companion Edward Byron Spencer, Grand King, and Right Excellent Companion Henry Ascroft, Grand Lecturer. Members of the chapter are urged to be present to give these most worthy companions a royal welcome. An attractive program will be given and refreshments will be served.

FIRST FROST OF SEASON

With the advent of frost in the mornings winter may be said to be with us. It is true that the frost was not a very serious affair although for a brief time there was a fall of four degrees below freezing point. Fortunately the frost did no harm. Even the tomato, which is always a delicate plant and easily affected, seems to have escaped. Nevertheless the frost is a warning that should not be neglected by those who have trees or crops that need protection.

PRAISE FOR LAUNDRY

It is always gratifying to a business firm to find that its efforts to serve the public are appreciated. The Glendale Laundry is one of the most progressive and efficient institutions in this city. Its active and able manager, Mr. Hewitt, spares no trouble to give the very best service to his customers. For this reason it is not astonishing to learn from him that he has received the following appreciative letter from one of the heads of a large educational establishment in Los Angeles, the extensive laundry from which is quite a matter to handle. Name and address in this case for obvious reasons are not published:

To The Glendale Laundry,

Gentlemen:—I cannot resist inclosing an expression of appreciation for the laundry service you render, as I am sending in this check of settlement. Everything has been done well, not one piece has been lost, and the attitude of officers and drivers has always been reasonable and courteous. This praise may seem a little foolish to a business concern, but I believe in giving credit where credit is due and that we are all human enough to enjoy expressions of appreciation. Sincerely, etc.

The greater the man the more queer notions he entertains. Humbleness and common sense go together.

WHERE HEROES SLEEP

It is Rudyard Kipling who sings the song of the British soldier who chants that the earth is blue with the bones of the fighters of the empire, who have sown them all over the world—"poor beggar it's blue with 'is bones." Now it is no longer Tommy Atkins alone whose bones are scattered far and wide. The many tribes of India are fighting in the bloody angle of Flanders, and patrolling the Suez canal and in all probability landing in classic Greece. The dead of the far East are mingled with the dead of the West and they lie, "rider and horse, friend and foe, in one red burial blent."

Many are the curious sights this war in Europe has created, but perhaps not the least curious is the cremation of the dead of the East in the fields of England. The funeral chant of the Far East, "Ram, Ram, satiya hai; Om Ka nam satiya hai," resounds mournfully in many a quiet coast town on the Sussex shores of England, every day. Just at daybreak, when the fogs of the coast permit the sun to shine through and mark the hour of dawn, any day at present, can be seen a mournful procession of thirty or forty turbaned figures chanting in measured tones around a lonely burden, swathed in folds of flowered cretonne and covered with white chrysanthemums.

These are the Hindu troops of Britain attending the cremation of a Brahman of the Arya Somaj, whose ashes will be sent to his people in distant India, to be scattered on the waters of the Holy Ganges, or some other river.

Britain has made provision for her Far Eastern soldiers, and with an eclecticism that shows the meaning of world empire has given them a burning ghat where their ceremonies of cremating the dead may be carried on. The Brahman ceremony is elaborate. It consecrates the death with fire and anoints the corpse with substances, odoriferous, nutritive, sweet and curative. Substances partaking of those qualities are burned along with the body and when all is consumed the ashes are collected and sent to India.

Meantime the regiments of many a province of the Far East are manning the scarred trenches in France, Flanders, Turkey, Servia, Egypt and Africa and laying down their lives for the faith they have sworn. Thus is the whole world seen to be kin and when the war is over the brotherhood of arms may well give birth to a brotherhood of wide and charitable understanding.

"FOR SWEET CHARITY'S SAKE"

Were it not for the charities of the Christian world much of the poverty, pain and distress of the human race would remain unalleviated. Disinterested men and women work all their lives trying to remedy the ills to which human flesh is heir and the inhumanities which man inflicts on man. There are a hundred worthy charities in this vicinity and one cannot do wrong in aiding them. There are many which will appeal to certain people and some which will appeal to others; but no one can deny that among the most worthy are the Children's Hospital and the Maternity Cottage hospital.

These two charities are unostentatiously doing a great deal of good. Many children left helpless and without means by their parents have found a comfortable home and education among those who love children and are accustomed to handle them to best advantage. It is needless to speak of what a salvation to the helpless poor the Maternity Cottage is. At a time when a woman is more helpless than at any other this Cottage charity extends to her a helping hand and provides a shelter when no other aid is possible.

To aid these two noble charities is surely something worth doing. So much of the giving of the world goes to those who are really in no need; so much giving is done for vanity's sake, that it is surely well to do something "for sweet charity's sake." These two institutions are more than ever in need of aid. In common with many other institutions they have felt the pinch of the times and have had to curtail their work and permit many worthy people to go unaided.

This should not be the case. Thanksgiving is drawing nigh and the hearts of the people of this native land of ours should be opened with thankfulness for the mercies vouchsafed them in that they have been hitherto preserved from the whirlpool of war in Europe. In view of all this it would be well for the people of this charitable city to patronize the charity concert which has been arranged by the Music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, for Friday, Nov. 26.

Glendale will then have an opportunity to hear within its own walls a singer of international reputation. This would not be the case if this great artist were wholly engrossed in the financial side of his profession. He is an artist, with the soul of an artist, and is glad to sing in aid of a worthy charity. His reward is greater than can be expressed in dollars and cents and those who have the opportunity to hear him may rejoice that they are privileged to combine, for once at least, a charitable purpose with a real pleasure.

Go to hear Constantino, Friday, Nov. 26, at the Palace Grand Theater, and rejoice at this opportunity to hear a great, a renowned singer, and to aid two most worthy charities.

CHARITY BALL

It is the custom of the Knights Templar to do good. The Christmas season is drawing near and the order has resolved to give a charity ball. This will be held in the Masonic Temple, Thursday, Dec. 2. It is expected that there will be an unusually good attendance. The proceeds of the ball will be devoted to charity and will help Santa Claus to visit Glendale's poor this Christmas. Every ticket sold means One Dollar for presents. There will be no deductions for expenses. Everything will be donated—hall, decorations, music, printing and advertising, as well as whatever other expenses may be incurred. The tickets are all numbered with numbered coupons. Each ticket has a chance of winning a valuable prize. Tickets admitting gentleman and ladies—One Dollar. Prizes on exhibition in Crofton's Shoe Shop window.

Of ordinary farm implements, the sulky plow has the shortest life in years but ranks second only to the walking plow in total days of service rendered. Its life is a little over 8 years, while its total of days' work is 119, as compared with 11½ years and 224 days for the walking plow.

The cost of keeping a calf during its first four weeks is nearly double that of any other four-week period of its life.

A FINANCIER DEFINED

"A financier is a man who can make $2 grow for himself where one grew for some one else. If the financier had a dollar and needed two, he would use the dollar as a first payment on a $10 bill, and he would then bond the bill for a $20 gold-piece and would charge $5 for doing this. Then he would sell an option on the $20 gold-piece at $17 for $1 to forty-five people and then would dispose of a half interest in the entire transaction for $150; 2 down and the rest payable in short term notes.

LA CRESCENTA

Rev. Hopping Surprised

Monday evening was one made memorable to the Rev. Theodore Hopping family. Sixty-five neighbors and friends from all over the valley gathered at the home of their pastor to help him celebrate his birthday and hold housewarming in the new parsonage.

The little home was filled with a happy crowd and after all had gathered, D. E. Wetherbee gave a very appropriate speech. Rev. Mr. Lumm also spoke. A feature of the informal program was the duet by the little Misses Elizabeth Jackson and Frances Gray, the words of which was composed by Mrs. Gray. After the program ice cream was served and then the guests all joined in the singing of old fashioned songs.

The Sunday School board held a meeting at the home of Mr. Judd Thompson last evening, at which arrangements were made for Christmas program, tree and exercises. It was also decided to establish a teachers' training class for the school. Other matters were also considered.

OAKDALE

A surprise party was given by the Oakdale Social club, in honor of the first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hingston, at their home in Oakdale. SIMPLE FRUIT CAKE

Two-thirds cupful of butter, one-fourth teaspoonful of soda, six egg whites, two-thirds cupful of candied cherries or pineapple, or a mixture of the two; one-third cupful of blanched and shredded almonds, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of pistachio extract or three-fourths teaspoonful of vanilla extract and one-fourth teaspoonful almond extract or any preferred flavoring, one and seven-eighths cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice, one and one-fourth cupfuls of powdered sugar, sifted (not the "confectioner's sugar," but the slightly granular powder); one-half cupful of sliced thin citron or a mixture of bleached sultanas and citron.

Cream but do not oil the butter. Add the flour, sifted with the soda and the cut up fruie. Beat the stiff egg whites with the salt; add gradually the sugar and lemon juice; combine the mixtures; add flavoring; bake in a well lined cakepan one hour to eight minutes (according to thickness and shape of pan), observing the "four quarter" baking rule. Covering with a paper during the "rising quarters" is often helpful for a beginner. Frost or not, as desired. Any preferred white frosting may be used and may be left plain or decorated with fruits and piping, according to taste and circumstances.

TROPICO

Owing to a delay of the special conveying the great Liberty Bell from San Francisco through to San Diego, this morning, the train passed through Tropico about 7:30 o'clock. Those who were expecting the special were not disappointed as they had a good view of the grand old bell that over 100 years ago pealed forth Liberty to all in this new world. The bell occupied the center of a large platform on a flat car and was carefully guarded by four stalwart men. The engine drawing the old bell was gaily decorated in the national colors and the eyes of the engineer gleamed with a pardonable pride as he kept his steady hand on the throttle of his engine bearing the precious freight. A thrill of patriotism and pride caused every true American to rejoice that his is a land of freedom and liberty.

Miss Christine Suderman, a young missionary from the German Kamerun of West Africa, will speak at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening. Miss Suderman will be introduced by Rev. O. P. Rider, pastor of the church.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church of Tropico will join with the great union services to be held in the First Baptist Church of Glendale, Sunday evening, at 6:00 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Brown of Gardena avenue left for San Francisco Thursday afternoon, where they will spend a week or more attending the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

The Pythian Sisters are arranging several new features for the Christmas bazaar and old fashioned dinner they will give in K. P. hall, on San Fernando boulevard, Thursday evening, Nov. 18. Mrs. B. F. Cook, president of the Thimble culb, auxiliary to the Pythian Temple, has arranged a most appetizing menu, and then placed this bill of fare at twenty-four plus one cent per plate, with all hungry youngsters to be served at fourteen plus one cent per serving. Following the dinner the sale of many pretty and useful articles will be held. Mrs. Myra C. K. Shuey and Mrs. William Tiffany will have charge of the apron and cap booth, Miss Blanche Shea and Miss Amy Miller will dispense the bonbons, candies and sweet meats at a prettily decorated booth. Dancing will be another pleasant diversion for the evening, and the popular Busch's orchestra will furnish the music for this pastime.

So says City Marshal Greenwood, who has been busy this week tackling the owners of the canine tribe for their annual contribution to the city coffers. The taxes were due the first of the month, but some of the taxes are not in yet. If you value your property, value your dog—and if you value your dog, pay its tax, says the officer.

Diamonds win out over the roads you know

It is a perpetual battle between tires and roads—and victory is hard-earned.

The strength and toughness of the rubber in Diamond Squeegee Tread Tires resists the roughest road wear—yawning ruts do not take toll from Diamond Squeegees.

Tried for years—on every road that leads in or out of this city—on all makes of cars—Diamond Squeegees have proven their unfailing superiority, and more than satisfy car owners.

We have almost discontinued making smooth treads, because the small (less than 10%) increase we ask for Squeegee treads has made Diamond Squeegees so popular that 90% of the Diamond Tires sold to consumers are Squeegee Treads.

Squeegees were put on the market because they proved to be the most satisfactory non-skid tire—tests prove that in addition to this the Squeegee construction (more rubber where the wear is hardest) makes Squeegees the best Long Distance tire at the price.
